WANT A GYMNASIUN

YOUNG MEN OF GLENDALE NEED HALL FOR RECREATION AND EXERCISE

"No one who looks carefully at conditions in Glendale," said Dr. Fay G. Stone, the well-known young dentist, to a representative of The Glendale Evening News," can fail to observe the absolute lack of recreation and exercise privileges for young men. Almost any evening groups of young men can be seen lounging on the streets for want of some place to which they can go and find amusement of an innocent, instructive and profitable character.

"Glendale is a city that is justly celebrated for the excellence of its morals. Its streets are free from the sights and sounds that make night hideous in some centers of life; but it seems to forget that young men after they leave the schools are just as much in need of exercise and wise supervision as they were under high school rule.

"In Glendale there is no public gymnasium, no public handball court or basketball court, and yet there are many young men who are anxious for such privileges. Recently along with some other young men I organized a basketball team. We have about 25 members. Except for the courtesy extended to us by the High School authorities we would have had no place in which to practice.

"Although we are thankful to have the High School privilege, yet the gymnasium there is altogether too small for us. We need a larger hall, with shower baths and some other privileges attached. Such a place would at once attract the large number of young men in Glendale who do not have any place where they can perpetuate those exercises to which they were accustomed during their school days and which are the very source of health.

"I think it should be possible to get the City Council to do something in the way of securing or getting built a hall for this purpose. It should not be difficult to get the ground, and a hall for this purpose would not cost much more than $500. We have had our eyes on a hall already, but the rental asked, $25 a month, was entirely too much and in our case prohibitive.

"Among the 25 young men of whom I have spoken are the makings of a fine basketball team. They are eager to enter the A. A. U. basketball tournament which begins in February. There is time enough to get into good shape before that date if we can only get a place suitable for practice. I place this matter before the Glendale Evening News in the hope that the publicity given it may bring suggestions and help to those of us who are striving to accomplish something for the benefit of the youth of Glendale."

SUDDEN DEATH IN TROPICO

Although Mrs. John A. Lough, 919 Glendale avenue, Tropico, passed away suddenly last night at her home her death had been expected for some time. Mrs. Lough, wife of Mr. John A. Lough, engineer for the Mission Land company, San Fernando, had been a great sufferer from tuberculosis during the past few years and had greatly failed within the past few months. On medical advice she had been in the habit of inhaling small quanties of chloroform to relieve her breathing. Mr. Lough was out visiting friends last night and left his wife in her usual health. When he returned at 10:30 p. m. he found her dead. She had evidently had a bad spell and used her usual remedy, a sponge with a little chloroform. She was found with the sponge in her hand. Dr. Bryant was called and found life extinct. The body was taken to the Jewel City Undertaking parlors. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Friday.

FIRST MEETING

The Columbus Avenue P. T. A. will hold the first meeting of the school year in the assembly room of the school on Friday evening, November 19, at 8 o'clock. Music selections will be given by the Nevin Trio and Mrs. C. Cable will read in her usually delightful manner.

At the close of the evening refreshments will be served and a social hour spent during which parents and teachers alike may become acquainted.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday; colder; northeast winds.

CONDITION OF WASH

CITY MANAGER WATSON SAYS CITIZENS SHOULD GO OUT TO CANYON AND SEE WHAT SHOULD BE DONE

"There is no question," said City Manager Watson, "that in view of past experience there is pressing need for protection along the banks of Verdugo Wash, north of the city, from the mouth of the canyon to the Louise street bridge. Citizens of Glendale will find it to their own benefit to go out there and view the locality where it is likely that work must be done to protect the city from the harm the floods can do. There is nothing like personal acquaintance with conditions for giving one an idea of what should be done.

"There is no promise that the city will escape floods this season. In fact there is every reason to believe that the floods will be as bad as during any other season. In any case precautions should be taken to guard against any possible destruction or damage. While it is true that the real remedy for floods should be applied farther up in the hills, at the source of the danger, we cannot, as a city, neglect what should be done in our own midst.

"These floods must be controlled in such a manner as to guard property in the city from damage. The floods bring down vast quantities of sand from the hills. This sand can be seen spread broadcast over fields, practically ruining them; and in some places piled high on sidewalks, destroying work done at considerable expense. Floods have cut channels through sidewalks in some places and certain properties in the line of the floods have been seriously lowered in value and have lain empty for long periods on account of the danger from water.

"In any proper city these things should not be possible. Whatever remedy can be applied should be made use of at once. Therefore I urge the people of the city to go out and see the wash in the quarter indicated and learn by personal observation what should be done. It is probable that the people of Glendale will be asked to vote bonds for the protection of the wash along the banks of Verdugo canyon in the direction mentioned above. The construction advocated is similar to that already employed in the canyon at Verdugo Park. A visit to the wash at the point indicated will convince anyone that protection is necessary. The wash all along its course needs protection.

"In this connection it would be well to remember that whatever outlay may be necessary at this moment would be paid back to the city by the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors has already pledged itself to reimburse this district if similar work be done in other parts of the county. The Board has declared itself in favor of taking over improvements made by the City of Glendale in connection with such work as this and to compensate the city to the extent of the value of said improvements in the Los Angeles County Flood Control district as long as the work shall conform substantially to the general plan of Los Angeles County Flood Control district and shall have been included in the flood improvement plans of the Board.

"In this way it will be seen that by going ahead with this construction the city will get a present benefit and will have the assurance of getting its money returned at a future date."

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BOYS TO BECOME NAVY OFFICERS

Vacancies in the United States Naval academy at Annapolis are being filled as rapidly as the appointees qualify for the position. Congressman Randall of this district had been requested to make appointments from Southern California, and has just announced his selections, as follows: Glen Harley Aron, South Pasadena; William Joy Clark, Alhambra; Aloysius James Mesmer, 3500 Manitou avenue, Los Angeles; John Warren Loucks, Pomona.

SCHOOL BENEFIT A SUCCESS

The Parent-Teacher association of the Columbus avenue school are to be congratulated upon the splendid bill they offered at the Palace Grand theater last evening to raise the funds for the lawn and flower beds to be placed on the school grounds. The general film favorite, Marguerite Clark, being featured in "Seven Sisters," one of her "legit" triumphs. If crowds count for anything not a small sum was realized, it being estimated by the manager that not less than 900 people attended both performances.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, Nv. 17.—Many organizations united here today in an effort to save the life of Mrs. Anna Ballinger's baby, who was born defective. With the mother's consent the surgeons decided to let the child die without an attempt to save him. The infant has physical flaws, it is said that would make him an invalid and probably a defective all his life. Various church societies and other bodies protested vigorously today to Police Chief Healy who then conferred with attorneys to see if legal steps could not be taken to force the surgeons of the German-American hospital, where the mother and child are to save the life of the infant by a simple operation.

SCHOOL AND CAMPUS

SPECIAL EVENTS IN BASKETBALL FIELD, DEBATING FORUM AND DAILY LIFE

The interclass championship basketball game was pulled off yesterday afternoon. Both the Junior and Senior teams were in splendid form and the game was well played. The Senior men were Lukins, Phillips, Powers, Renshaw, Francy, Brown and Shea. Those on the Junior team were Glazier, Wilson, Hagin, West, Fishel and McGillis. William Renshaw played a very steady game and Nemo Powers played his usual fast game. Out of the twelve baskets made by the Seniors, seven were made by Powers. Tom Phillips also played fine basketball. The Juniors depended mostly upon Carlton West for their victory. Carlton is light and quick and usually plays all around his opponents. He played well last night, but for some reason or other he did not play his usual speedy game. Fishel and Wilson both made several neat plays during the game and added points to their score. At the end of the game the score stood 22-13 in favor of the Seniors. The Juniors had anticipated victory even more than the Seniors, so it naturally was no slight disappointment to them. Several players, unnoticed before, have come to the front this year and with a little practice will make a first-class school team.

Next Friday night the first interscholastic debate of the season will take place. The question is "Resolved that the United States should adopt the policy of subsidizing all its merchant marine engaged in foreign commerce." Sam Durand and Howard Stickney meet Santa Monica at Santa Monica. This debate promises to be more than interesting and many of the Glendale students are trying to arrange to hear it. The South Pasadena team, which was to meet Glendale on the home grounds, defaulted. As a substitute it has been arranged for the second team of Lincoln High School to meet Frank Bridgeford and Joseph Maier in the high school auditorium. Both of the debaters have been on the champion class team of 1916 for the past two years. They should give us a good debate.

School Cafeteria Opened

The school cafeteria was opened yesterday noon for the first time this term. This year the cafeteria is being run as a student proposition and promises to be a great success. Miss Hanson and the girls of the domestic science classes arrange the menus. The students will receive the best service possible because the student body is not running the cafeteria as a money-making proposition, but is operating it entirely in the interests of the students of the school.

Special Assembly

A special assembly was called at 1:30 yesterday afternoon for the purpose of having a basketball rally. Mr. Wight, the basketball coach, gave a speech. He announced the game that is to take place this afternoon between Glendale and the U. S. C. preps. This is the first interscholastic game of the season and many of the men who have shown up in interclass matches will be played. Robert Kolts, the manager of the Senior basketball team , gave a speech in which he expressed his deep sympathy for the unfortunate Juniors who had no chance for the championship. Carlton West, manager of the Junior team, gave a speech. He said that the Seniors are nice fellows all right, but "they're big guys and kind of clumsy." He showed us plainly how the Juniors are planning to win the Faries cup.

DAMAGE SUITS IN COURT

Two damage suits filed against O. W. Tarr, street superintendent, for $1500 each, were opened in the superior court, Los Angeles, Wednesday. These suits are known as Hight vs. Tarr and Frith vs. Tarr. They were first brought against the city and trustees of Glendale, but were dismissed. The new suits begun against the street superintendent are still being heard.

On trial of the cases today the court instructed the jury to find a verdict in favor of the defendant, Mr. Tarr, street superintendent of Glendale. Jones and Evans appeared for the defendant; Pendell, Gleason and Poole for the plaintiff.

Representatives to the Los Angeles Congregational Church association convention were Rev. E. H. Willisford, Mr. Geo. E. Adams, Mr. J. Button of Glendale. The report will be read at this evening's services.

ADVANCES IN HEATING

J. C. BELDIN DESCRIBES IMPROVEMENTS IN FURNACES AND OTHER DEVICES

"Since the invention of the Bunsen burner," said J. C. Beldin, proprietor of Glendale Sheet Metal Works, 435 S. Brand, "there have been many improved applications of the principle of gas combustion to the heating of houses, offices and buildings of all kinds. Gradually there has been worked out a system of heating that has proved satisfactory. That system is the gas floor furnace. It is proving a great benefit to houses inasmuch as it does away with the gas fumes that formerly were so hurtful to health and so destructive of comfort.

"I have installed heating appliances in Glendale for more than nine years and it has been my experience during that time that the old basement furnace has been largely discarded for the less expensive and more convenient warm air floor furnace. Gas, in the past, has been looked on with some disfavor as a heating agent. It gives off harmful fumes and discolors various articles of household use, such as silver. These drawbacks, however, are now entirely overcome by the floor furnace. In this furnace the firebox is separate from the air chamber and the fumes are carried off by vent pipes.

"Many of the old floor furnaces heated and reheated the air in the rooms. The air was thus robbed of its vivifying qualities and the atmosphere of the room rendered disagreeable. The modern floor furnace supplies only warm, fresh air and acts not only as a heater, but also as a ventilator.

"Dirt falling into the register cannot lodge in the air chamber and thus interefere with its free action. In the modern floor furnace all extraneous substances that happen to fall into the furnace are carried to the basement floor. In this way the furnace is kept in a perfectly sanitary condition. Nothing is of more importance in the home than good ventilation. This the gas floor furnace assists in maintaining with immense benefit to the health of the household.

"This system is not expensive. Any ordinary household can enjoy the comforts and cleanliness of this furnace at a cost little more than that of a good stove. The average monthly gas bill can be estimated at not more than $1.50. Two large rooms can be heated by means of the Braasch floor furnace. In many cases three rooms are thus heated. By the application of the 'remit' system all of the rooms of a large house may be heated. The cost of installing the 'remit' system seldom exceeds the cost of an ordinary coal furnace, while the many advantages of the gas system are secured. I look to see this system take even a larger place in the community than it does at present."

SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

The Jordan Niel home on Salem street was the scene of a merry dancing party on the evening of the 11th when friends of this popular couple took them by surprise to assist in celebrating their fifth wedding anniversary.

Earlier in the day the bride of five years ago had been most generously remembered with floral gifts; these brightened the rooms used during the evening. An elaborate buffet supper, prepared and brought by the ladies present, was served to the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wilde, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Pulliam, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neel, Mr. and Mrs. William Althouse, Mr. and Mrs. A. Neel of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pearson of Los Angeles, Miss Dorothy Wood, Miss Lorraine Watson and Mr. Clarence Hughes.

An anniversary gift in the shape of an elegant carving set, together with all good wishes, was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Neel by their guests.

NEED OF PUBLIC GYMNASIUM

One of the things that made Athens great and Sparta famous was the devotion of those nations to physical exercise. Probably the world has never seen any finer physical development than that of the Greeks. The sculptures they have left behind them speak of a race at once intellectual and supreme in all physical development. Their contribution to the knowledge of the world could not be spared and their Olympic games are still celebrated by the whole world. That is a wonderful testimony to the nation that gave birth to Leonidas and his dauntless 300.

If the United States is to retain the supremacy it has already gained in things athletic there must be every encouragement given to young men to carry on the cult after they leave school. Too often, unless a young man go to college or to a university he has but little chance to keep up that muscular development that may one time be all that stands between his country and ruin. The grinding of the lower classes of England has resulted in the production of an anemic race that is scarce fit for the great task before it of defending the British empire from the destructive powers that are assailing it.

It should never be possible to say of the United States that its young men lacked the opportunity to develop their physical system and keep in that perfect health that is necessary for the well being of the race and the perpetuation of the nation. This can only be accomplished by giving the youth of the land opportunity to exercise itself and practice those sports, games and exercises that keep the body fit.

In the present issue of The Glendale Evening News, in an interview, Dr. Fay G. Stone calls attention to the lack of gymnasium facilities in Glendale for young men after they have left school. Apart from the physical aspect of this subject it has a moral side that should not be overlooked. Young men who are devoted to athletics are very seldom devoted to anything immoral. The exigencies of athletic work demand a sound mind as well as a sound body and those attributes are not to be attained where anything hurtful is found.

Athletics should be encouraged among the youth of a city and a suitable placec for the playing of indoor games should be provided. Those who kept a careful look on the work of the summer playgrounds know the immense good that was done to the youth of the city by the establishment of those centers of exercise. It is to be hoped no exigencies of finance will prevent the city authorities from lending favorable audience to the prayer of the young men of the city for assistance in getting a suitable place for basketball and other games throughout the winter. Such an expenditure would be one of the most beneficial investments the city could make.

EAGLE ROCK

The Epworth league social at the Feaster home on Windemere was well attended and a most pleasant time was had by all. As it was a Topsy- Turvey affair everything was carried out in that style. The Topsy Turvey concert was most exciting and caused much merriment. Various other games were indulged in and refreshments were served backwards with toothpicks and sweetmeats served first. Just before the happy throng departed for their homes all joined in the singing of the most popular songs of the day.

The football game played Saturday on Baer field between the Occidental Tigers and the Throop college squad scored 7 to 0 in favor of Oxy.

Mrs. Anna Tupper and tiny baby daughter of Glendale visited the former's aunts, the Misses Swan, on West Sycamore avenue last week.

With every purchase of 10 cents and up the Swan Drygoods store gives coupons and when each purchaser presents a large amount of them they will be redemmed. Their display window shows the many useful articles to be given away.

Music lovers of Glendale have a real treat before them for the Glendale Choral club are giving the season's first concert on the 29th instant in the Masonic hall, Brand boulevard. The club will sing some really beautiful selections and the officers have been most fortunate in obtaining a soloist of note. To know that Mrs. Catherine Shank, soprano, well known in the musical world and locally, will be heard is learned with delight, and having Mr. Geo. H. Bemus, bass soloist of the Temp'e Baptist church, on the same program, is indeed something to look forward to, but wait, another young and well-known artist and musician of note has also been engaged in the person of Miss Susine Wessels, violiist.

The chorus has worked hard and the untiring efforts of Director Poulin, and the accompanist, Miss Gertrude Champlain, a musical program will be given not soon to be forgotten by those who hear it.

CONCERT TO BE SUCCESS

Every effort has been put forth by the ladies of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club to make the Constantino charity concert a success. There seems no doubt that it will be one of the most brilliant affairs ever arranged in Glendale. It is not every day that a singer of international importance comes to a city the size of Glendale. The people of the city are fully appreciative of the privilege they are to enjoy on Friday, Nov. 26. Already there has been a large demand for tickets and those who have not secured seats had better do so at once. The Elks lodge is arranging to patronize the concert, which as a charity affair appeals strongly to the well-known benevolent principles of that excellent body. To all appearances when Signor Florencio Constantino appears on the stage of the Palace-Grand theater he will be welcomed by an audience that will fill every seat in the house.

LITERARY SECTION MEETS

Quite a pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent by the Literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club in the spacious and artistic living rooms of Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in the study and criticism of poetry. The program was one of exceptional beauty and was appreciated by all. The "Little Book of Modern Verse," by J. B. Rittenhaus was the topic assigned to Mrs. O. W. Ttarr. A number of beautiful selections were read from that book by Mrs. Tarr. They dealt with simple everyday life and were read in a pleasing manner.

"Phi'ip the King" by John Masefield was artistically reviewed by Mrs. Blake Franklin. This poem is the story of the Spanish Armada and the attempted invasion of England in 1588. All who were fortunate enough to be present were well repaid by hearing this beautiful poem.

Mrs. C. E. Harlan, curator of the Literary section, gave a clever review of Lady Gregory's talk before the Friday Morning club on "Laughter in Ireland." She showed that the Irish Celtic race in the early days of its history was more inclined to somber imagination than to wit; but that contact with the invading English had developed the modern faculty for which the Irish are so justly famous. Mrs. Harlan also read one of Lady Gregory's one-act plays, entitled "Spreading the News." This clever production showed how gossip can inflate the simplest piece of news out of all semblance to itself.

PROF. KNOWLES PREACHES STRONG SERMON

The service at the Methodist church last night was largely attended. Prof. F. C. Knowles of the University of Southern California was the preacher. The theme of his sermon was "My Spirit." He showed that the communication of ideas by the various methods men have employed since the time primitive signs were used to the wireless telephone all pointed to the possibilities of prayer. Snapping his fingers, he said: "It does not take that much faith to believe in prayer. The requirements of prayer are an intelligent sending of a communication and intelligent receiving of it. Science is demonstrating the possibilities of prayer.

In speaking of the transference of power, Prof. Knowles prophesied that the time would soon come when power would be transferred wirelessly. "'Why then is it hard to believe that God communicates power to men? Does God answer prayer? He does. Does God give power to men? I have experienced it. The spirit of God will be given to any man whose life is tuned to receive it."

By numerous illustrations the speaker showed how modern science was leading into the realm of the spiritual. The deep earnestness and the response of the people showed their interest in the message and in the spiritual life.

The speaker tonight will be J. F. Strong, a railroad man. All men should hear this man's story.

When you answer an ad say, "I saw it in The News."
